PRIMARY SCHOOL & COMMUNITY PARTICIPATION
Munuki, Juba, Sudan.

client

Munuki Community/EuroAction Acord.

The Munuki primary school was built as part of a community development and community participation programme, following training for community development workers.

The school used mud bricks walls and columns, with a timber reinforcing system within the walls; simple scissors trusses with teak poles; and a covering of thatch.

The design concentrated on simplicity, to demonstrate the basic requirements of a class-room space, which could easily be achieved by communities with limited resources.

The classrooms were completed in 1985, with space for extension up to a five-class school.
